These ships will be sent to Atlantic ports to remain until about July 1, when they will be assembled with the rest of the fleet in Cape Cod bay for practice exercises. BOAT CLUB GOSSIP

AND OTHER AQUATIC ITEMS

By William B. Laub, Jr.

Last Friday night a meeting of the board of directors of the Potomac Boat Club was held at the clubhouse, and several bids on the concrete front were considered. The work will probably be completed by the middle of the month, as operations are to be started this week.

Specifications for the new building differ entirely from the original plans in that they call for a concrete sea wall along the present dock line and a heavy wooden wharfage extending back to the house, a bridge-like construction which will enable the tide to rise and fall beneath, thus making impossible any danger of another washout.

Owing to the fact that several days have been given by members of the club during the past two weeks, the program calling for a regatta, smoker or dance every two weeks, planned by the entertainment committee, A. B. Dent, chairman, will be discontinued until after the Philadelphia regatta July 4.

The junior crew will be sent to that meeting, and a smoke and dance will be held at the Potomac Boat Club on the night of the Philadelphia regatta July 4.

The Potomac Club has always had just such men in its ranks. The club has been up to the mark in the past, and can do as much with a bunch of youngsters as any professional coach in the game.

commission. The Lady Maud will attend the races at Oxford in July.

Secretary George Dalton has broken out the year books for 1911 and the records are quite shipshape and natty. The roster of members, both active and associate, shows an increase that has never been equaled during any one year since the club was founded. One feature of the book is the new building which enables a man to tell the exact time of high tide here, anywhere down stream or on the bay, months in advance.

To confine boating items strictly to local happenings would deprive readers of this section of a great many interesting items of interest to the boating community. The following excerpt from the Motor Boat is published:

What to all appearances will be a crazy motor boat in charge of a hoodooed crew will go into commission on the North side about June 15. The boat, with a crew of about eight or ten men, will go through all sorts of erratic maneuvers, and will be a real test to the casual observer will appear foolish. Leaving her float, the craft will head north, and will be a real test to the casual observer will appear foolish.

When the sky is clear and the water calm, the crew will suddenly resort to unusual activities, such as putting the storm covers and making other preparations to meet a heavy gale. But the motor boat will not be a real test to the casual observer will appear foolish.

The Potomac Club has always had just such men in its ranks. The club has been up to the mark in the past, and can do as much with a bunch of youngsters as any professional coach in the game.
